Artificial Colouring

Certain Indian food has been characterised by a distinctive vivid red colour and, indeed the most popular Chicken Tikka Masala would not appear the same if it wasn't presented with its familiar bright red coating. However, this colour is achieved by the use, or more likely the over-use of various artificial colouring agents which are not present in the original Indian Cuisine. Recent research has suggested that the over-use of some of these colourings could be harmful and has recommended that it used to be more carefully controlled. Mindful of the need to provide you with a healthy, tasty and wholesome meal cooked in a traditional style manner, we have decided to limit the use of artificial colourings in all our dishes.

We are sure that you will appreciate this health conscious move on our part for your benefit and also believe that you will taste the real flavour and ingredients as a result.

ALLERGY ADVICE: Some of our dishes may contain these 14 allergens. If you have any allergies to these products please inform a member of staff before ordering. We will do our best to advise you.

Since Royal Adeel opened in 1985,
we have welcomed countless number of loyal customers through our doors. A testament to loyalty, and to our popularity throughout the Black Country was the award we received from Beacon Radio for being voted number one Balti Restaurant in the West Midlands.

Not only do we pride ourselves on serving high quality food but also the fact that we are sensitive to health issues.
We use low fat oils in all our cooking and source the fresh produce available, ensuring you get a healthy balanced meal
